FOREWORD

A database on paddy millers is not available in the country. The government intervenes in the paddy procurement to stabilize the market prices of paddy and rice. An effort is taken to minimize the decreasing trend of paddy prices during the harvesting season and to manage the increasing trend of rice prices during the off season. These intervention efforts were constrained by the lack of a proper plan to process and dispose the stocks. Such lack of planning is due to a lack of information regarding registered paddy millers who process good quality rice and also the medium and small scale millers who need paddy during the off season to continue their business. This information base is also required to encourage the private sector to process paddy, thereby minimizing the cost to the government by way of long storage and unnecessary damages.

It is necessary to view the paddy/ rice marketing as a component of a whole industry for the benefit of all stakeholders. On many occasions private sector paddy millers had reported that most of the paddy mills had closed as a result of ad hoc import policy decisions. Consequently, the Secretary to the Ministry of Agricultural Development decided to collect data on paddy millers and requested the Marketing, Food Policy and Agribusiness Division (MFPAD) of the Hector Kobbekaduwa Agrarian research and Training Institute (HARTI) to work with the task. Due to financial constraints, the data was collected through a postal survey. This database is prepared on paddy millers and their milling capacities, the type of paddy milling and the machines they use.

I thank all the staff of the Marketing, Food Policy and Agribusiness Division and also the supporting staff of the Hector Kobbekaduwa Agrarian research and Training Institute for their effort devoted to achieve this task. I wish this database would be useful for making informed policy decisions, which are vital for all the stakeholders in the paddy sector.

Director

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

As the title suggests, this publication on Paddy Milling Survey is intended to provide data regarding rice millers that was requested by Mr. Tissa Warnasuriya, Secretary to the Ministry of Agricultural Development. Accordingly, a simple questionnaire was prepared and data gathering was done by a postal survey to overcome the financial constraint. I wish to express my sincere appreciation for the support given by the officials.

First of all I would like to thank Mr. Tissa Warnasuriya, Secretary to the Ministry of Agricultural Development for giving us this opportunity.

I would like to thank Mr. V.K. Nanayakkara, Director of Hector Kobbekaduwa Agrarian Research and Training Institute (HARTI) for making arrangements to prepare this document and for his constructive and valuable comments.

A note of Appreciation is due to Mr. W.V. Dharmasena, Additional Director (Marketing) and his staff for their assistance to obtain addresses of the millers.

A note of Appreciation is due to Mr. D.P.C. Swarnasiri, Senior Research Officer of the Institute of Post Harvest Technology for helping us to design the questionnaire.

I thank Mr. G.D.S. Somachandra, Chairman of the Paddy Millers Association who devoted his time to sending us the addresses of millers and made awareness of the millers about the survey. I highly appreciate all the millers who responded to the questionnaire.

I would like to thank Mrs. Nirosha Malkanthi, Statistical Assistant, for entering the data to the computer, Mr Upul Aruna Shantha, Statistical Assistant, for preparation of tables and charts, Mr. W.A.N. Wijesooriya, Statistical Officer, for preparation of table formats, Mr. Jayawardena Kithulagoda, Statistical Assistant, for cross checking the data, and the supporting staff for their cooperation of Marketing, Food Policy and Agribusiness Division of the HARTI. I thank all Research and Statistical staff of this Division who devoted their leisure time to work with the database.

I thank Mrs. Pushpika Ranaweera and Mrs. Sulochana Oruwalage for the excellent job of type setting the final report.

Finally I wish to thank Mr. S. Rameshwaran, Head of the Publication Unit and the Printing Staff of the HARTI for printing and binding of this report in a proper manner and also the HARTI staff who helped this task fruitful.

Paddy Milling Survey -2006

Introduction

On many occasions the need arose for a database on the paddy millers. The district wise database on paddy millers, the type of processing and milling capacities, the equipments they use for paddy milling and cleaning were not available in the country. As a result the efforts of government intervention in the paddy and rice marketing, activities were unsuccessful.

Farmers in the paddy producing areas face many problems during the harvesting seasons because millers do not have enough funds to purchase paddy. Without having the database on paddy millers and their milling capacities, government is also unable to provide financial assistance to millers. Apart from that, information is lacking in this field to justify the available paddy stocks with the millers to take policy decisions in favour of all stakeholders. Marketing, Food Policy and Agri-business Division of Hector Kobbekaduwa Agrarian Research and Training Institute, on the request of the Ministry of Agricultural Development, made an effort to collect and compile data to fill this information gap to meet the emerging need.

Objective

The major objective of this study is to prepare a database on paddy millers that can be used for proper planning in the development of paddy/rice marketing in Sri Lanka.

Methodology

Both the secondary and primary data were collected for this purpose. As the secondary data, the addresses of the paddy millers were collected from the Ministry of Agriculture, Livestock and Lands. On the top of it, the questionnaire was designed to collect information. The postal survey technique was used to collect data to manage the available funds. While doing the survey, the officials of the Paddy Millers Association and some millers were interviewed over the telephone. Questionnaire was designed with the help of the government officials in this sector.

Limitations

The survey was carried out as a postal survey due to financial constraints. The Division was unable to visit each miller and to recruit the investigators for personal interviews. Hence, this compilation is based on voluntary responses of the millers and do not represent the totality.

Commercial Milling System

The main product of paddy milling process is rice and this industry has its' by-product such as husk, bran and broken rice. In traditional milling system, these by-products are mixed with rice. But in modern milling system, by-products are separated from rice that is the main product and give value addition to all the products.

According to the millers normally milling process obtains 78-80 kg of parboiled rice from 100 kg of paddy. After polishing is done to a degree of 4-6, at least 74% brown rice can be obtained. But this can be obtained if machineries operate 100% efficiently. In general, the milling outturn varies from 68% -70% according to the standard of the mill and the quality of paddy. The machineries used to produce quality rice are paddy cleaner, steel huller, rubber roll sheller, destoner, separator, polisher, grader and colour separator. Photographs of these machines are in Annex 01.

District wise Distribution of Paddy Mills under Different Capacities

The mills were categorized according to the daily milling capacities of paddy reported by millers. 1,727 millers responded to the questionnaire and 203 of them reported that the mills were not functioning. Mills with more than 2.5 mt milling capacity of paddy per day are located in major paddy producing districts, while the mills under the range of 1 mt to 2.5 mt capacity of paddy per day are located in other districts. The following table shows this situation.

Out of 1,727 mills, 445 mills are located in major paddy producing districts such as Ampara, Polonnaruwa, Anuradhapura, Hambantota and Kurunegala. According to the survey, 187 millers have the capacity of milling more than 8 mt of paddy per day. 134 mills (72%) out of these are located in major paddy-producing districts. More than 60% and 50% of the millers have milling capacities of 5-8 mt/day and 2.5-5 mt/day respectively in these districts. List of mills is in the Annex 1.

Fig 2: Distribution of Paddy Mills (Over 5,000 kg/day capacity)

The paddy mills with daily milling capacity of over 5,000 kg are available mainly in the major paddy producing districts of Ampara, Polonnaruwa, Anuradhapura and Hambantota. About 20 mills are located in Matara and Ratnapura districts. In all the other districts, less than 10 mills are available under this category.

Fig 3: Number of Mills that are not Functioning

Most of the mills are not functioning at the moment due to many reasons. Some of them are temporally closed, while others are completely closed. Most of these mills are small-scale mills and custom mills. In the major paddy producing districts, a very few mills were not functioning according to the information provided by the millers.

Modern Machineries Used for Paddy Milling

Prices of rice varied according to the quality. It means that using the modern machineries gives the additional value to the product. Hence, the millers adopt new technologies to improve the quality of rice. Therefore, the researchers decided to collect data on the modern machineries used by the millers. The machineries use and the purpose of using those machines are as follows:

a. Cleaner

Before milling, paddy is cleaned to remove empty seeds, impurities and sand. Millers use cleaner for this activity.

b. Steel Huller

It is designed to remove husk and bran from paddy in a single operation.

c. Rubber roll sheller

This machine is used for dehusking of paddy without breaking the seed. Therefore, the rice outturn and the quality are very high.

d. Separator

Separate paddy from rice.

e. Polisher

This is used to remove bran. To remove bran, millers use steel hullers and jet polishers (N 70 and N 50).

f. Grader

Grader is used to separate equal size seeds from black seeds and broken rice. It separates whole grains from the broken rice.

g. Colour Separator

This machine is used to remove discoloured seeds and black seeds. This electronic machine is very expensive.

The photographs of these machines are in annex 03.

Rice mills in Sri Lanka can be classified into 3 groups such as huller mills, semi modern mills and modern mills according to the machineries used for paddy processing. The classification introduced by the Institute of Post Harvest Technology of Sri Lanka is given below.

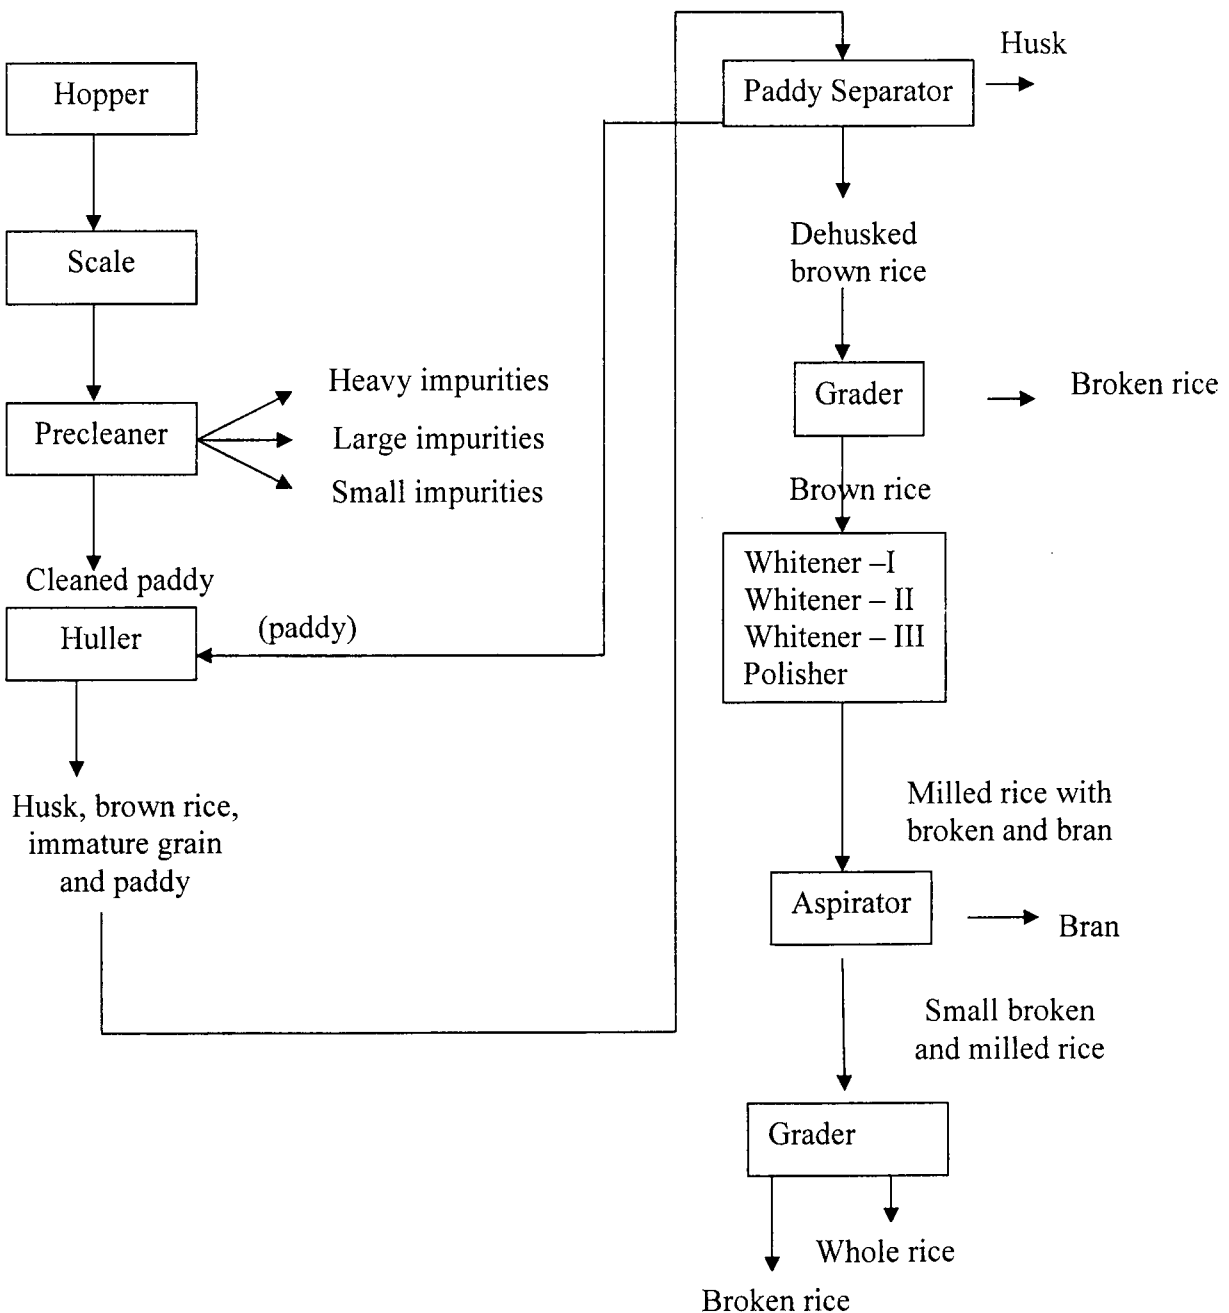

| Type of Mills        | Machinery                                                                                          |
|----------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Traditional (Huller) | Steel huller and Winnower                                                                          |
| Semi-modern          | Pre-cleaner, Rubber roll sheller, Steel huller and Winnower                                        |
| Modern               | Pre-cleaner, Rubber roll sheller, Separator, Abrasive Polisher, Jet pearler, destoner and elevator |

Milling Efficiency

| Milling process  | % Husk | Head Rice | Broken | Total Yield |
|------------------|--------|-----------|--------|-------------|
| 1. Hand pounding | 40.0   | 40.0      | 20.0   | 60.0        |
| 2. Steel huller  | 36.6   | 46.5      | 16.9   | 63.4        |
| 3. Disk sheller  | 32.5   | 55.9      | 11.6   | 67.5        |
| 4. Rubber roller | 30.4   | 62.0      | 8.0    | 70.0        |

This table depicts that most of the millers use rubber rollers, destoners, polishers, steel hullers and cleaners to process paddy. In addition, most of the large scale millers have graders, dryers and colour separators.

List of millers who have modern equipments under different milling capacities are presented in Annex 4.

This table shows that the highest number of dryers is available in Polonnaruwa followed by Anuradhapura districts under the mills in which the capacity is above 8 mt per day because most of the millers produce parboiled rice. The highest number of colour separators is available in Ampara district. (List of millers - see Annex 4)

This table shows that the highest number of graders is available in Anuradhapura district followed by Ampara and Kurunegala (the mills under the paddy milling capacity of 5 mt- 8 mt per day). More or less equal number of separators is available in Anuradhapura, Hambantota and Ampara districts. The highest number of destoners is used in Anuradhapura district followed by Polonnaruwa. Very few destoners are used in Ampara and Hambantota districts because quality of paddy in these districts is good due to using floor mats and combined harvesters. The list of millers who use modern machineries is shown in the Annex 4.1.

In these category graders, destoners, polishers and separators are used in Polonnaruwa, Anuradhapura and Kurunegala districts. Except the major producing districts, millers in the Gampaha use these modern equipments to produce quality rice. For list of millers see Annex 4.2.

Most of the millers, who have the milling capacity of 1 mt-2.5 mt per day, use only polishers and cleaners for quality improvement.

The above table depicts that the millers who have milling capacity of less than 1 mt are located in the minor paddy producing districts. The highest number of millers use rubber rollers.

Most of the millers have very limited storage facilities. About 50% of the millers have the storage capacity in the range of 250 mt -500 mt in the major paddy producing districts of Polonnaruwa, Anuradhapura, Ampara and Hambantota. The highest number of millers with more than 1000 mt storage capacity is located in Polonnaruwa.

About 50% of the millers in Polonnaruwa, Anuradhapura, Ampara and Hambantota districts have the storage facilities in the range of 100 mt to 500 mt. More than 75% of the millers in Kurunegala district have the storage facilities of more than 10 mt and less than 250 mt.

The list of millers under each category is shown in the Annex 5

Conclusion

The survey identified that 26% out of total mills are located in major paddy producing districts such as Ampara, Polonnaruwa, Anuradhapura, Hambantota and Kurunegala. According to the survey, 187 millers have the capacity of milling more than 8 mt of paddy per day. 134 mills (72%) out of these are located in major paddy-producing districts.

Considering the type of paddy processing, 789 mills process raw rice and 218 mills process parboiled rice. 618 mills process both raw and parboiled rice. In Hambantota district, all the mills process raw rice. In Ampara district, most of the mills process raw rice. Most of the mills processing parboiled rice and both raw and parboiled rice are located in Polonnaruwa and Anuradhapura districts respectively.

According to the database, most of the millers use rubber rollers, destoners, polishers, steel hullers and cleaners to improve the quality of rice. Most of the large-scale millers have graders, dryers and colour separators too.

Dryers are available in Polonnaruwa and by Anuradhapura where the capacity of the mills are above 8 mt per day and most of the millers produce parboiled rice. The highest number of colour separators is available in Ampara district.

The highest number of destoners is used in Anuradhapura followed by Polonnaruwa. Very few destoners are used in Ampara and Hambantota because the quality of paddy in these districts is good as they are using floor mats and combined harvesters.

12-14% of millers in each major paddy producing areas have storage capacity of over 500 mt. Majority of the millers have storage facility of less than 250 mt.

Annex 03: Machineries

Cone Polisher:

The rice is next polished to remove the bran layers. Some amount of polishing is essential for easy cooking and storage although excessive polishing reduces the nutritive value of rice. The separated bran goes out through the screen and is collected separately.

Paddy cleaner and Destoner:

It removes the foreign matter, such as sand, stones, straw, seeds and pieces of iron etc, from the paddy.

Rubber Roll Sheller:

When the paddy is fed into the rubber roller sheller, it removes the husk and separates the brown rice. Husk will be separated with the help of an aspirator to husk bin.

Huller 1 and 2:

Now the brown rice reaches the huller1. Here the remaining husk will be removed and the rice will be sent to huller 2 where it will be semi-polished.

Rice Grader destoner:

REG is a 3 in one machine. It separates:

- Dust and bran particles from head rice & broken.
- It removes stone particles from head rice and broken
- It separates head rice and broken
